DETAILED ACTION

Priority

Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Oath/Declaration

The oath or declaration is defective. A new oath or declaration in compliance with 37 CFR 1.67(a) identifying this application by application number and filing date is required. See MPEP §§ 602.01 and 602.02.

The oath or declaration filed on July 20, 2006 is defective because it omits the city or town of the residence for all of the inventors.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 41 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

a) The last line of claim 41 recites ". . . to the place of reaction" but does not set forth what the reaction is. What is the "reaction"?

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Art Unit: 1793

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

The person having ordinary skill in the art has the capability of understanding the scientific and engineering principles applicable to the claimed invention. The references of record in this application reasonably reflect this level of skill.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 22-42 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U. S. Patent 5,417,955 to Connolly in view of U. S. Patent 4,082,832 to Watanabe et al.

Col. 3 lns. 10-42 in the Connolly patent describes a process for manufacturing ferrous sulfate (FeSO_4) by mixing together a FeCl_2 pickle liquor from the pickling of steel with what appears to be fresh sulfuric acid of a concentration ranging from 10 to 98 percent by weight so that the following reaction occurs:

The hydrochloric acid vapor and water vapor are carried off by an air stream to an absorption system where the HCl is recovered.

The difference between the Applicants' claims and this Connolly patent is that the Applicants' claims call for the use of spent sulfuric acid (which may originate from a titanium dioxide production: please also see Applicants' claim 24), whereas the Connolly patent appears to use fresh sulfuric acid.

The abstract of the Watanabe patent describes the generation of spent sulfuric acid from the same claimed titanium dioxide production process, wherein the spent sulfuric acid appears to be also contaminated with metal chlorides (please note that the abstract discloses that the waste acid has abundant heavy metallic ions).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the process of the Connolly patent by substituting Connolly's fresh sulfuric acid with the spent sulfuric acid disclosed in the abstract of the Watanabe patent, in the manner set forth in the Applicants' claims, because of the expected advantage of saving money by thriftily using spent sulfuric acid readily available from a conventional process rather than resorting to the more expensive alternative of purchasing fresh sulfuric acid from a supplier/dealer.
